Bottino Makes Report On Work Done In 70th General Assembly

Louis F. Bottino, of Lockport, has completed his first session in the Illinois general assembly as one of the three representatives elected in Will county under the new reapportionment measure and has made a report to his constituents summarizing the work done by the legislature.

Mr. Bottino, a former high school superintendent and county superintendent of schools who also has knowledge of schools as a teacher and basketball coach of considerable ability, was naturally interested in legislation affecting the schools.

He was elected on the Republican ticket, with Speaker of the House Warren Wood. These two and Francis J. Loughran, Democrat, represent Will county in the legislature. On legislation affecting the area all three and Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill worked together.

State Representative Bottino's summary of accomplishments of the 70th general assembly, particularly as they affect schools and the area, follows:

No Tax Increase

"Perhaps the best new is that there are to be no general tax increases. Approximately 2500 were considered. Out of them have come laws to tighten up many phases of administration in state government. Also enacted were laws setting up speed limits. Means of better enforcement to insure greater safety of travel on our highways have been provided.

"The consolidation of the Cook county and City of Chicago welfare departments has been effected. It is believed that this should result in considerable savings. Over 80% of all public Chicago and Cook County, which assistance funds are spent in has approximately 50% of the state's population.

Schools Do Well

"Schools have fared well despite no increase in state taxes. Here is the record:

"$26,000,000 increase in the common school fund.

"$10,000,000 for driver education courses. This is a new appropriation.

"100% increase in per pupil grant for Junior colleges. This will mean approximately $60,000 annually to the Joliet Junior college.

"$10,000,000 revolving fund for loans to school districts needing more classroom space.

"Improvement in the state program of administration of school bus transportation, giving more aid to school transporting children in sparsely populated areas.

"$2,300,000 added funds for the education of handicapped children.

"Teacher's pension system improved to provide greater benefits and also survivor benefits.

"Creates Joliet Port Authority. No fund for which school aid is given is suffering a cut-back. The common schools will receive

30 Attend First Meeting Of Teen Group In Mokena

The first meeting of the teen age group of Mokena met in the basement of St. John's church Monday, July 1. Temporary officers were elected by the group of 30 teenagers attending. The officers who will be in office until Dec. 31, are Sandy Swinford, president; Carol Martie, vice president; Tommy Williams, treasurer; and Lois Fee, secretary.

The group expect to be well organized and self-supporting by the end of the year. They discussed the many problems they will encounter in the near future such as dues boundaries on membership, age limits, and the activities which will be most attractive to all the members.

Splash Party Planned

The first activity planned is a splash party at the Joliet YMCA. Chairman of this outing is Rosemary Dempsey, who will be assisted by six volunteers.

The Teen club is having difficulty finding a suitable meeting place, as many other activities conflict with the time and place of meeting.

Some of the activities discussed at the meeting were

If plans of developers materialize Mokena would be expanded several times its present area and its population would almost be doubled.

J. H. Johansen, of Chicago, who said he was representing several real estate developers, appeared before the Mokena village board at its meeting last week to suggest annexation of 640 acres that would carry the south boundaries of Mokena beyond U.S. 30.

The present village occupies 192 acres.

Johansen told the board that his principals are prepared to buy the former James Owens farm which has 412 acres north of U.S. 30 and 128 acres south of that highway for home sites if the tract can be annexed to Mokena. He indicated that a thousand homes would be built and presumably a shopping center. He did not say what kind of homes would be erected.

The tract touches on Wolf road, south of the Philip Lenz land, and extends west to the next farm road.

For territory to be annexed it must be contiguous to a municipality so that in this case it would require taking in a considerable expanse of property before making contact with the tract referred to by Johansen.

B & M Lumber Co. To Hold Home Show, Saturday, Sunday

The B & M Lumber Co., of Frankfort, will open its home show Saturday. The event is to run two days, Saturday and Sunday, from 2 p.m. until dark.

Everyone is invited and parents are urged to bring their children. There will be gifts for the youngsters as well as the grown-ups. More than 20 of the county's leading building material manufacturers and supplies will have free exhibits in booths at the lumber yard.

One of the features of the exhibit will be "Walt's Workshop", in action. Most everyone who watches TV is familiar with "Walt's Workshop," and at Frankfort he will build many items while you watch and show some shortcuts in carpentry and cabinet making.

BED ROCK

America was conceived as a land in which the individual would be paramount.

No matter how productive we become, how high we are able to lift ourselves in a material way, how clever the ideas advanced by our scientists, inventors and social thinkers, we can never afford to lose sight of the fact that individual liberty and responsibility are the bedrock on which our American system

Superstitious Credit Frogs, Toads With Curative, Prophetic Powers

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

A night spent recently in a camp trailer at an isolated spot beside a small lake began somewhat noisily. Most of the noise came from the chirping of frogs. Shortly after dark, however, the falling temperature silenced the songsters, but not until their brief serenade had suggested some of the superstitions once held concerning frogs.

Remembered bits of lore, along with other items collected in Illinois by the federal writers project in the late 1930's, may be of interest. If we may judge by these superstitions, frogs and toads could work much good fortune or bad. They were a means of foretelling, of causing, and even of correcting some of the very misfortunes they brought. That is, they could both cause a cure.

All knew that the handling of frogs or toads or getting the water from them on the hands would cause warts. Not many, however, knew that this same water on hands already wart-infested would cure them. Nor did they know that a leg could be severed from the frog and, "while it still quivered", be rubbed over warts to make them vanish. It was well to know all this for anyone killing a frog, even by accident, was liable to have warts appear. If no frog was available to furnish the quivering leg or that remedy did not appear, a neighbor's dishrag could be stolen, the warts washed with it and the dishrag afterwards buried under the same neighbor's doorstep. This was an equally effective cure as the dismembered leg.

Tough on the frogs

Felons, that is bone felons, were also cured by proper use of frogs. To accomplish this a small frog from a spring was tied to the felon for several hours. The frog would die but the felon would be cured. Goiters also yielded to the frog treatment. There were three ways to use them. In one a live frog was dipped into hot lard and fried. The grease in which it had been cooked was then rubbed on the goitre. A second method required that the belly of a frog be rubbed three times over the goitre and then thrown over the left shoulder. In this case the frog also died but death would appear to be less painful. If neither method appealed, the frog could be worn suspended about the neck. Any of the three methods was said to be equally effective.

Toads were a specific for headaches. A woman having this common ailment could secure relief by binding a toad on the head. The cure was permanent and thus far superior to the most extravagant claims made for aspirin. A check fails to reveal whether it was effective for men.

To dream of croaking frogs was a certain sign of good luck, particularly if the dreamer would quit fussing and begin to work earnestly. Carrying a frogs jawbone in the pocket would also woo the smiles of fortune. Likewise, the dried breastbone of a tree frog, wrapped in paper and carried in the pocket, would assure good luck.

When a frog croaked during the day it was calling for rain. The musical notes of a tree frog at dusk meant rain in three days. If a bullfrog was killed, the next day would be foul. There were always two freezes after the first spring croakings; frogs just naturally were to look thru glass' (ice) twice before spring was definitely established.

Aid to cupid

A young lady might get some assurance in affairs of the heart by observing toads. If one hopped across her pathway she would see her sweetheart within a day. Also, he would come from the same direction as that of the toad. There was some danger, however, in seeing a toad. It could cause warts unless one spit immediately.

Anyone wishing to visit misfortune upon another could do so by proper use of a frog. A frog could be captured, placed in a jar and allowed to starve and dry. It was then ground into powder and some of this powder placed beneath the hatband of the intended victim. Blindness would result.

Frogs figured in many voodoo rites, along with snakes, lizards bats and black cats. Those believing in voodoo thought that a tadpole swallowed in drinking at a spring or branch would grow into a frog in the stomach of the swallower. It might lodge during the swallowing process and become 'a frog in the throat', sometimes deadly. Observation of a toad by an expectant mother could 'mark' the unborn child, particularly if the mother-to-be was frightened or startled by the experience.

It was universally known that if a toad was killed by a cow, the cow would give bloody milk. It was over this bit of superstition that the writer's faith in frog lore first began to waver. He knew of a cow that had stepped on and killed a toad, and her milk didn't have even the slightest pink tinge.

Yes, we almost forgot to say that it sometimes rained frogs from the sky. Also that one who by design or accident killed a toad might find that his house would catch fire. When frogs croaked on a battlefield active conflict would come in three days.

Taken all in all, frog lore is somewhat confusing. A part of this may result from the fact that frog-lore did not have much scientific training and often did not know the difference between ordinary frogs and their more potent kinsmen, the toads.

"Among bills of importance to the district, enacted into law approximately $50,000,000 more and sponsored by the writer, are the following:

"A bill to provide state tuition grants to school districts having children living on state owned property will give the Chaney and Lockport high school districts approximately $10,000 annually.

"A bill to establish a Port Authority for the Joliet region will result in limited control of river commerce. Will county townships bordering the deep waterway will benefit as river traffic increases.

"A bill permitting the sale of approximately 1200 feet of state owned river frontage in Channahon township will insure the development of a high type industry which will provide fine jobs for citizens of the area in addition to bringing taxable wealth to support schools and other governmental bodies.

"An industry of this type in Channahon township is of particular importance for the reason that the township lost such a large portion of its taxable wealth when the munitions plant was built in Will county during the World War II.

"It has been an honor and pleasure to represent you in the 70th general assembly."

Adult coaches and managers for these activities will be needed. Anyone interested in acting in these capacities, are asked to contact Harry Fee.

The place of the next meeting has not been settled yet, but when it is known, posters will be placed in the various stores in town announcing the time and place of the next meeting.

It is hoped more teenagers will be able to attend the next meeting, when bylaws will be discussed and a report from the committee on the splash party will be given.

Villages Get Their Share of Sales Tax for March

The half-cent sales tax collected in March for cities and villages and paid over to them by the state in June amounted to $3,922,827, a tidy sum even in these days of $71-billion budgets, it was pointed out.

Chicago, of course, having the largest number of persons and doing the largest amount of business in the state, gets the lion's share, $1,834,526.

But even with the total trimmed by that amount there was quite a little left to trickle down to the smaller communities. While their shares are but pittance compared to that of Chicago, mean the difference between being in the black or in the red in most cases, reports show.

Amounts paid to communities in this region as representing March consumer business follows:

Mokena, $691.34; Frankfort, $728.71; New Lenox $902.44; Manhattan, $458.68; Orland Park, $625.80; Tinley Park, $2,018.94; Midlothian, $2,109; Posen, $717; Markham, $786.26; Oak Lawn, $8,005.71; Park Forest, $7,520; Chicago Heights, $20,506; Blue Island, $13,180; Evergreen Park, $15,412; Lockport, $3,033 and Joliet, $46,772.

Alleged Traffic Violator Ignores Arrest Ticket

If Donald J. Bergman, 22, of 511 State st., Lockport, formerly of Mokena, fails to show up in Mokena police court at 7 o'clock a warrant for his arrest will be issued, according to Mokena authorities.

Bergman was arrested last week by Mokena Police Officer James Smetana on a charge of running a stop sign. It was then discovered that he had no drivers license, it having expired April 30, this year. He was released to appear July 3 but failed to show up. A letter was sent to Bergman advising that if he failed to appear tonight a warrant would be issued.

Justice of the Peace August Werner will be holding court tonight in the village hall. At the session last week he imposed fines in seven cases.

One of the defendants, Thos. Ray Angone, 21, of Chicago driver for a Chicago Heights company, was fined $5 for driving around a safety gate on the Wolf road crossing of the Rock Island.

Two were fined $3 each for running stop signs, Attillie Grossich, 69 Rt. 2 Joliet and Harvey F. Kohnitz, 59, 183rd street and U. S. 45.

Four were fined for improper parking, Walter Elder, 53 114th and Hamilton, Mokena, $4; Thomas R. Zapp, 26, 3122 W. 53rd Pl., and William Shinnick, 19, 11540 Parnell ave., Chicago, and James Helbing, 25, 407 Elwood st., Joliet, each $3. In each of the cases the costs amounted to $2.

Soda and Spice Make Toothbrushing Nice

Most youngsters don't consider toothbrushing as important as it's cracked up to be. They'll conveniently forget about it when they see a chance to or else they'll do a lick-and-a-promise job. Since the state of the teeth in later life depends to a great extent on the care that they get when the child is young, it's imperative to find ways and means to get a competent job of toothbrushing done willingly.

One way is to let the small fry manufacture the dentifrice... be a do-it-yourselfer just like Daddy. All the ingredients are right on the kitchen shelf... baking soda, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and cloves. Mix a quarter of a pound of baking soda with a half-teaspoon of any one of the spices in a small jar with a screw-on lid. After a good shaking to get the ingredients blended, punch a hole in the lid for easy pouring. With this device there'll be a variety of different flavors to choose from at each brushing, at a total cost of thirty cents, the price of two half-pound boxes of soda.

Soda and spice make toothbrushing nice for the youngsters, and it's nice for your budget, too. It's also good for the teeth, for baking soda is the only product along with salt that enjoys the blessings of the American Dental Association for use as a dentifrice.

Keep Accidents Out of Kitchen, Women Told

Keep accidents out of your kitchens. During National Farm and Home Safety Week, July 21-27, check your kitchen carefully to see whether it's a safe place for you and your family.

Scalds and burns rank high among kitchen accidents, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialists at the University of Illinois. Here are a few simple precautions that will help to prevent them:

Try to keep the children out of the line of traffic while you are working in the kitchen. A gate at the kitchen door will keep small children out while you're using hot water or fat for cooking.

Dangling Cords Dangerous

Make it a habit to turn handles of all pots and pans toward the back of the range or table. Never let them protrude over the edge.

Be careful where you put electrical devices in your kitchen. A cord dangling from a coffee percolator or toaster naturally invites inspection by youngsters. Keep it well out of their reach. Avoid the possibility of tripping over cords that may upset fans, sweepers, heaters or other electrical equipment.

Keep matches out of the reach of small children. Use only safety matches if there are children in your family. Provide a nonflammable receptacle. It may save a life.

Safety makes sense.

The shower was held in the home of Mrs. Robert Waters, 6533 Riverside drive.

The occasion was the birth of a son, the eighth child of Mr. and Mrs. Romanenghi. He was born June 21, in Hazel Crest hospital, and has been named Michael John. The new arrival has four brothers and three sisters.

Late Blight Poses Threat to Tomato Crop

Late blight of tomato, a serious disease that could cause millions of dollars' worth of damage, has been found recently in commercial canning fields in McHenry county, reports M. B. Linn, acting head of the University of Illinois plant pathology department.

This devastating disease may appear soon in other areas of the state where southern-grown transplants were used and then spread to other commercial fields and home gardens.

A fungus growth Linn points out that late blight caused a $40 million loss in canning tomatoes in 1946 in the northeastern and central in Ft. Lauderdale and at the Sea Isle hotel in Miami Beach.

Death Claims Mary Rehberg of Green Garden

Last rites were held Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church at Monee for Mrs. Mary Annie Rehberg, 76, who died Friday morning in her home in Green Garden and Monee area. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Buchmeier. She was married to William Rehberg, Feb. 25, 1900, who preceded her in death.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Louis Harms, of Monee, Mrs. Frank Koehn and Mrs. Walter Mueller, both of Peotone, and Mrs. Virgil Bisping, of New Lenox; five sons, Walter, Emery and Norbert of Peotone, William, of Morris, and Elmer, of Monee; 29 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; five brothers, Louis Buchmeier, of Steger, Charles, of Beecher, John and William of Monee, Edward, of Manteno, and three sisters, Mrs. Emma Schneiss, of Matteson, Mrs. Anna Schmidt and Mrs. Sophia Seeman, both of Mokena.

The Rev. Phillip Krause officiated at the service. Interment was in the church cemetery.

It also destroyed tomatoes in home gardens. At that time growers and gardeners were not prepared to combat the disease.

Late blight causes large, irregular, dark-brown spots in leaves and stems and rotting of both green and ripe fruit. A pale green band of tissue usually surrounds the affected area of the leaf. The rotted fruit are greenish-brown with a rather firm but slightly wrinkled surface. Lesions on leaves, stems and fruit show the grayish, moldy growth of the fungus. Severely affected plants look as though they had been killed by frost. The fungus spores may be carried for several miles by air currents.

Can control disease

Fortunately something can be done to control this disease. Linn urges all commercial growers and home gardeners, especially in northern and eastern Illinois, to spray of dust their tomato plants with a fungicide as soon as possible. The best materials for late blight control are those containing fixed copper, maneb or zineb. These names will be found on the package under active ingredients.

Linn says a general-purpose garden dust containing both a fungicide and an insecticide may be used. Directions given on the container should be followed. You'll need to spray or dust at least every 10 days or oftener if rainfall is frequent.

Some will evacuate a section of their city to test disaster plans. Many industries, are conducting CD drills during the "alert." Surveys will be made as to extent of industry participation and their preparedness to withstand "assaults."

Generally, two public warning signals will be sounded on air raid devices July 12: The alert signal (a long steady blast) will be sounded to indicate "possible approach of enemy aircraft," and to notify the public to listen to radios for instructions. Later, a "take cover" signal (up and down wailing blast) indicating "attack imminent" will be sounded. The public should familiarize themselves with these warnings and actions prescribed by local CD directors to take thereafter.

Likely targets: Chicago East St. Louis, Rock Island, Rockford, Decatur, Peoria and Springfield. State, regional and local control centers will be manned to cope with hypothetical problems arising from this fourth annual nationwide operation alert.

Based upon assumed nuclear attack on the continental U. It is purposely without realism as to enemy capabilities or as a likely pattern of attack.

However, the problems created could result from a real attack. Gen. Woodward said. He cautioned, "We must be mindful that the grim makebelieve war of 'operation alert' could become stark tragedy tomorrow. Let us continue to hope for the best, but prepare for the worst," he urged.

Palos Center Foundation Camp In 20th Season

The Foundation farm camp sponsored by the Community Center Foundation, Palos Park, opened for its 20th season on June 30 with a full enrollment for the four two-week periods.

Fourteen girls and 14 boys, between the ages of 7 and 12, of different religions and races and economic backgrounds will live together as members of four Indian tribes. A special innovation this year has been the reservation of the third camp period for children of 12 years. This is the result of the request of several who have been at the camp previous summers and had reached the age limit of eleven.

Special programs, in addition to the usual ones of horse back riding, farming, fishing, nature lore, handicrafts, and recreational games, include the initiation ceremony the first night of each period, stunt night, and the closing award ceremonies at the end of each period. A naturalist from the Forest Preserve spends at least one morning each camp period with the campers.

Taylor Director Again

The Rev. Paul T. Sanders, director of the Foundation, has announced that David Taylor, of Chicago, a senior at Northern Illinois university, is again the director of the Foundation farm camp. He has been a member of the camp staff for four years, first as counselor and last year as director. Assisting him are Charles G. Scheurer, III, of Palos Park, a sophomore of Illinois Wesleyan university senior boys, counselor, and Donna Chiles of Springfield N. J., junior at Ottawa University, senior girls, counselor. Grayce Glass of West Orange, N. J., is the junior girls counselor; she is a senior at Earlham College. Counselors-in-training are Kay Briggs, of Palos Heights and Glenn Treganza, of Chicago. The camp cook is Selma Eib of Springfield, Mo., a sophomore at Park College; her junior assistants are Pamela Campbell, of Homewood, Patsy Hawkins, of La Grange, and John Robertson of Blue Island.

The camp committee in charge of preparations for the season include Mr. and Mrs. Lauren T. Blount and Mrs. Paul McElfresh of Palos Park; Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. S. Cannella, and Mrs. James McIntyre of Homewood; Mr. and Mrs. William Cisna of Calumet City; Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, of LaGrange; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hovasse, of Oak Lawn; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kruissink, of River Forest; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee of Chicago, and Mr. and Paul E. Slightam of Palos Heights.

Land and royalty owners of the nation last year reaped a harvest from the oil industry of some 8.2 billion dollars in royalties, rentals, and bonuses.

6 Tinley Girls at 2nd Session of Scout Camp

The following girls from Tinley Park are attending the second session of Girl Scout camp Manistee: Patricia Cheney, Diane Griebel, Kathryn Flett, Vicki Hahn, Diane Knudsen, and Pat McBurney.

They were among the 126 Girl Scouts from south Cook county who boarded busses today to spend an outdoor vacation in the heart of the Manistee National Forest.

There they will learn to use basic outdoor skills as they live in tents, close to one another and to the great world of nature around them. The program is a flexible one, as the girls themselves plan it, allowing for cook-outs, overnights, as well as the standard camp activities, including swimming, boating, crafts and nature.

One of the staff who will welcome the local campers, is Mrs. H. VerWey, of Tinley Park.

The camp can accommodate a few more girls in coming periods. Inquiries should be directed to the new offices of the South Cook County Girl Scout Council, 157 E. 155th st., Harvey.

Drives 800 Miles to Race Six Bernie Wilhelmi Will Be in Big Event at Joliet Saturday Night

The few miles Bernie Wilhelmi will drive around the quarter-mile oval at Joliet Memorial Stadium in the midget auto races Saturday night are nothing compared to the distance he put in just getting there.

The 29 year old Joliet driver is a soldier, stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., and each week-end makes the 800 mile round-trip to Joliet, just to compete in the midget auto races.

He'll have an eye on the 25 lap feature race prize this Saturday. The main event will be preceded by four heat races, a handicap and a 15 lap semi-feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Due for Discharge Soon

Wilhelmi, whose commuting will end Aug. 23 when his two year hitch is completed, is one of several capable Joliet drivers who race at the stadium every Saturday. Tony Saylor, Roy Shields, and Sam Robinson also represent Joliet.

George Sellery of Chicago will be seeking to keep his lead in the point standings out of the hands of such aggressors as Bob Tattersall of Streator, Jack Chapman of Aurora, Paul Kerber of Elgin, Vic Watson of Mendota and Johnny Riva, Chicago.

Several new drivers, headed by Warren White and Corky Seaborg of Lockport, also are seeking to crack the top 10 in point standings.

Can Plant Some Crops Yet, Says Farm Specialist

Even tho crops have been flooded out or wet weather has delayed planting, emergency crops can be planted even up to the end of July, points out W. O. Scott, University of Illinois crops extension specialist.

Corn can still be planted in July for silage, Scott says. Livestock farmers will probably find that they can get more feed from corn silage than any other crop at this time. Farmers who can feed soft corn may want to go ahead and plant corn. Soft corn can be fed at whatever stage the frost catches it.

But planting corn for use as grain is very risky now, Scott emphasizes. There's less than a 50-50 chance that Illinois farmers can plant corn and get a

Blue Angels Beat Trojans

The Tinley Park pony league team, the Blue Angels, coached by Robert Jirka, beat the Trojans 11-7 last Friday and the previous Tuesday, beat the Green Bees.

Bob Meakim blasted a home run in the sixth inning of Friday's game with two men on.

Harold Bormet pitched the first four innings for the Blue Angels, followed by Jerry Romanenghi, who pitched the last three.

Holding first place following last Friday's game, the Blue Angels slipped one half game from that position, when the Red Devils, coached by Jack Casey, gained first position when two opponents forfeited games.

crop except in extreme southern Illinois.

High in Phosphate

Farmers who plant corn should hill-drop a fertilizer that is high in phosphate to help hasten maturity, says soils specialist A. L. Lang. He recommends 100 pounds of 0-45-0 or equivalent.

The best crop to plant now would be early-maturing soybeans, such as Chippewa, Black hawk or Harosy. There's better than a 50-50 chance that they will mature if planted up to July 15.

Grain sorghums like Reliances and Norghum might also be planted. They will mature in 75 to 90 days. But Scott says sorghum presents a drying problem in the fall, and it may also be hard to find a market.

Buckwheat and Proso millet will usually mature if planted up to the end of July. These crops may also be difficult to sell, but they can be fed.

Can Always Plow

Further information about emergency crops can be obtained from University of Illinois Circular 726, Crops for Emergency Plantings. Get it from your county farm adviser or directly from the College of Agriculture at Urbana. Agronomy News No. 53 also discusses late crop planting and can be obtained from the department of agronomy at the university.

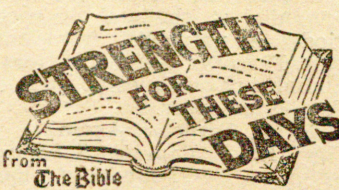

If planting should be delayed beyond July 20 and buckwheat or millet is not planted, then Scott suggests that about the best thing would be to prepare the land to have it ready for a fall seeding of alfalfa or other winter grain crop.

Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do... (St. Luke 23, 24.)

Do you ever find it hard in your heart to forgive anyone? Do you sometimes find it hard even to forgive yourself?... On the Cross, Christ Jesus asked God to forgive those who were crucifying Him — for the Eternal God of Love and Mercy will forgive — and He hears even the smallest prayer.

summer sports clothes, as well as in beach robes, bags and towels, textile experts at American Institute of Laundering, research and education center of try, offer these guides in choosing terry cloth garments.

Terry cloth can be either woven or knit. A knit terry cloth will easily stretch and, in most cases, will be plain on the reverse side. Woven terry cloth has loops on both sides of the fabric and is very firm. Woven terry tends to have more stability than the knit cloth and is also more absorbent because the loops appear on both sides of the fabric. Close, thickly-packed loops always afford greater drying capacity.

To test terry cloth for long wear, hold it up to the light.
If tiny points of light show thru,

the cloth has a close, even weave and will give good service. If patches of light show thru, the fabric is loosely woven and will not wear well. More light will show thru white terry cloth than thru dark colored or patterned cloth.

A.I.L.'s textile experts also note that a great amount of terry cloth is being sold by the yard. Homemakers have their choice of a wide range of solid colors, as well as stripes, plaids and varied designs. The experts issue this note of warning to homemakers buying terry cloth yard goods: Find out whether the cloth has been preshrunk.

If it has not, have the cloth laundered one or more times before making it into a garment to avoid shrinkage after the article is completed.

STATE RIGHTS

At the recent annual conference of state governors President Eisenhower advanced the cause of state rights, recommending that local governments assume the responsibilities for which they were created, thus halting the trend to an overgrown, all powerful centralized federal government.

This is not the first time President Eisenhower has touched on the subject. At the 1953 conference of governors at Seattle the President had this to say:

"I am here because of my indestructible conviction that unless we preserve in this country the place of state government with the power of authority, the responsibilities and the revenues necessary to discharge those responsibilities, then we are not going to have America as we have known it. We will have some other form of government."

And in 1952, when he was a candidate for the presidency, Mr. Eisenhower spoke these words at Des Moines: ?

"The federal government did not create the states of this Republic. The states created the federal government. The creation should not supersede the creator. For if the states lose their meaning our entire system of government loses its meaning and the next step is the rise

Across The Counter . . .

Before he moved to Blue Island, Mr. Moorehead was involved in a car accident with a driver who had no insurance. It was a painful experience—both physically and financially.

Naturally, therefore, Mr. Moorehead was insistent as he talked to us recently about auto liability insurance. "There ought to be a law against it," he said emphatically.

Bill Mulder

"You'll be glad to know," I said, "that the insurance industry has come up with an even better solution. It's the new Uninsured Motorist coverage available for family automobile policies. It provides protection from damages done by uninsured motorists. It applies while your family is riding in a car, walking, or even bicycling.

"It offers much broader protection than a compulsory law. For example, it covers damages from uninsured out-of-state cars, hit and run drivers, cars used without insurance in violation of law, and even from drivers of stolen cars."

"That's great news," Mr. Moorehead said with a broad smile. "It certainly has been needed. Always before, even if a person carried plenty of insurance, he ran the risk of being the innocent victim of an accident involving a driver who didn't have any insurance. I knew I'd rather pay a little extra and protect myself and family from this hazard."

"Fine," I said. "I think most auto owners will want this extra protection as soon as they know about it."

May we discuss all the new features of good AUTO insurance with YOU?

of the centralized national state in which the seeds of autocracy can take root and grow."

The President never spoke truer words and it is too bad that nothing will be done about putting them into action.

Mr. Eisenhower urges the states to stand up for their rights and at the same time is pressing for civil rights legislation that is a clear invasion of states' rights.

The governors talk state rights but they don't really mean it either. Too many state administrations take advantage of the short comings of the federal government to hide their own. The governors knowing that the public as a whole is laboring under the delusion that federal money is free and a gift from heaven, prefer to wangle as much of it as they can instead of raising taxes at state level. Altho state candidates are small targets for voters to hit they are more vulnerable than federal office seekers.

The President urged the governors to make a study of the situation and figure out what things the states can do that the federal government has taken over. He also suggested that if the states take over some of the functions now performed by the federal government perhaps the federal government will allow the states to take over the taxes raised for such purposes.

It has been made clear at Washington, however, there will be no sharing of the income tax and that the gasoline, oil and tire taxes that the federal government collects will be retained to finance a federal highway system.

The governors would like the gas, oil and tire taxes, but they are not going to get them, and neither they nor the states will have any voice in deciding where the highways will go. The bureaucrats who spend our money will decide that.

Mr. Eisenhower talks of the dangers of building up a strong centralized power but his actions speak a different language.

Since the original New Deal was brought to life by Franklin Roosevelt and his left wingers, the powers of Washington have spent some 80 billion dollars in grants and subsidies to states, communities and pressure groups, to buy their allegiance to the central power idea. And the Washington mob is still spending your money to get you to surrender your rights that they have help. Tell or write they may build a national state. President Eisenhower while talking about state rights has invaded them in several ways. His desegregation legislation is one of them and more recently he has decided to step into the school picture. Building schools is certainly not a job for the federal government nor was it ever intended to be but Mr. Eisenhower has repeatedly said that he has $2 billion earmarked to build schools. Legislation to provide this invasion of state and local rights, would not only give the federal government a voice in what would be taught but who would teach it.

If we are to escape the loss of our rights it looks like we will have to do it ourselves.

President Eisenhower doesn't seem to be really concerned nor do the governors. And probably the reason our supposed leaders are unconcerned is that most of us apparently don't care.

We are too addicted to the philosophy of "let George do it." We shun our responsibilities at all levels, in the home, the community, the state and the federal government.

We have some good men in office at these various levels but they can't do the job unless they have help. Tell or write what you think, what you want done to make certain that government is not taken away from the people.

The people should support office holders that support and protect the peoples' rights and conversely we should kick out of office those officials who ignore and flout the rights that belong to us.

It is up to all of us to stand on our own feet because if we ever get down we may find it very difficult to get up.

Tinley Teens Hold 4th Annual Picnic At Indiana Lake

The Tinley Park Teen club will hold its 4th annual picnic at Lake Eliza, in Indiana, where they will enjoy swimming, boating, horseback riding and miniature golf. They will be accompanied by their adult advisor Joseph B. McCarthy.

Lake Eliza features a small zoo with some rare species of wild life. Crops of feed may be purchased to be fed to the animals.

Noted Clergymen Will Preach At Methodist Camp

Two nationally prominent ministers will preach during the annual Methodist Berger camp meeting being held from July 14 thru July 21. They are Dr. G. Ernest Thomas, director of the Spiritual Life department of the Methodist board of Evangelism, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. Chester A. McPheeters, until recently pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit, Mich. He was appointed superintendent of the Methodist Flint, Mich. district in June with supervision over 70 Methodist churches.

The Berger camp ground is located at Sibley blvd., (147th st.) at Greenwood rd.

The camp meeting will open at 7:45 p.m. Sunday, July 14, with Dr. McPheeters preaching the first of a series of four sermons. The opening service is a part of Berger trustee's night and chairman, the Rev. C. A. Bloomquist, will preside.

On Wednesday, Laymen's Night, Dr. Homer B. Field, of Blue Island, southern district lay leader, will preside.

Youth night is Friday and young people of the Chicago southern district will lead the worship, with Dr. Ernest Thomas preaching. Preceding the service, the Berger Women's auxiliary will hold their annual dinner. Mrs. Fred Waterman, of Midlothian, is president.

Dr. C. Wesley Israel, district superintendent of the Chicago Southern district of the Methodist church and program chairman, stated that the camp meeting is "an opportunity to hear spiritually dynamic messages by nationally famous preachers resulting in a deepened spiritual life for all who participate."

NO RETREAT

The most advanced, progressive and forward-looking idea ever conceived by the human mind is the idea of individual freedom and individual responsibility, as set forth by the founders of America and embodied in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—to retreat from that idea, for whatever purpose, is to go backward, into darkness.

The FBI has a record of 94% convictions in cases brought to court.

Cards-- No Players; Crap Table-- No Dice, So-o Case Is Dismissed

(CNS)—Charges of gaming against James Passaro, 28, who lives in the rear of the Springfield Inn, at route No. 66 one block east of Wolf Road, Lyons Township have been dismissed.

Judge Irving W. Eiserman, sitting in Bedford Park police court, dismissed the charge when Passaro said the cards taken in the raid on June 13 were behind boxes and were not being used for gambling. A table, which could have been used for dice games, was also taken, but no dice were found.

Sheriff's police, acting under Lieutenant Raymond Hederman also confiscated a .38 Colt revolver and a new J. C. Higgins shotgun, but both weapons were returned when ballistics technicians testified that neither gun had been fired.

Passaro said he had no knowledge of the cards as he had just taken over control of the tavern when the raid occurred.

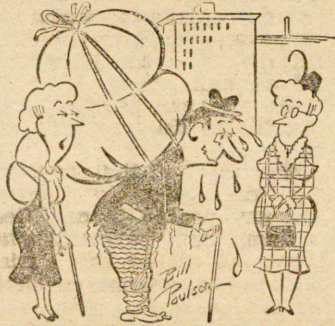

Hearing on charges of gaming against Arthur J. Maloney, 31, of 75th and Arbor streets, La Grange, was continued because Maloney is ill. Maloney, owner of the Den, at route No. 66 and Willow Springs Road, Lyons Township, was also arrested by Sheriff's police on June 13. Police found a quarter slot machine in the tavern.

Official Gives Latest Data on Social Security

OFFICIAL GIVES 1-24 INSIDE

Despite efforts of social security officials, there are many facts about the program of which the public is not aware. There are benefits, some of them incorporated in the program recently, which may be of benefit to many people not now receiving them.

These and other facts were revealed by C. R. Schafer, district manager of the Harvey office of Social Security Administration, to members of the Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce last Monday.

In the social security trust fund, which comes under the jurisdiction of the secretary of labor and department of education and welfare, there is more than 22 billion dollars. The fund can only be invested in government guaranteed securities.

Disability Payments Too

The program has been broadened greatly since its adoption in 1937.

For instance, the latest added benefit enables a disabled person, 50 years or over to draw monthly disability payments and continue to receive them as long as he is unable to be re-employed. Upon reaching the age of 65, the payments are converted to old age social security, to include members of the family eligible for payments.

Also included under this program are payments for a disabled adult child, if he became disabled before reaching 18 years of age.

Changes made in social security last year made wives eligible for monthly benefits at the age of 62.

The program is not intended to serve as a complete retirement program, Schafer pointed out, but rather to supplement other retirement funds. A family maximum paid out under social security is $200 and the maximum per individual is $108.50.

Can Collect for Children

Children are considered dependent upon the mother as well as the father, if the mother works and contributes social security payments. If the mother should die, then the father on behalf of children under 18 years of age, can receive benefits based on the mother's account.

Another facet of the program, perhaps not generally known, is that any person is qualified for a lump sum payment, who pays part or all of the burial expenses of a person enrolled in social security.

Mr. Schafer distributed booklets and cards to members of the Chamber of Commerce on the social security program.

The cards, which are available at the Harvey office, may be filled out and mailed, in order to receive a full accounting of a social security account. He suggested persons do this every three or four years, to insure their account is being properly credited.

HOME DEVELOPERS —

It was pointed out that the annexation could be carried out by taking in property on neither side of Wolf road.

The village council took no action on the proposal, telling Johansen that it would have to investigate and study the situation. Village Attorney Raymond Hoolehan was instructed to look into the matter and report on the legal points and mechanics involved.

Mr. Johansen told the board that in the event the area is annexed the developers are prepared to put in sewer and water and a sewage disposal plant. Such plant, it was pointed out, would become the property of the village.

The proposed development would be in the Wietendorf elementary school district.

Of more immediate concern to the board were some dozen complaints from householders whose basements were flooded because of the deluge of two weeks ago. Some property owners reported that raw sewage as well as storm water found its way into their basements--for the first time.

Mayor James Marti will call a meeting of the sewer and water committees to discuss the drainage problems. Town Highway Commissioner Henry Yunker told the board that the township would take care of the drainage on the south side of LaPorte road to the entrance of Community park. The village is to take care of the other side.

Village Engineer Robert Hamilton who has planned the sewer system and sewage disposal plant for Mokena told the property owners that when the sewers are in they will take care of any water seepage into basements but roof and surface water is not to be turned into the sewers -- they are for sanitary purposes only. There is a state law which prohibits connecting roof and surface drains with sanitary sewers.

And no engineer, Hamilton said, can ever guarantee that a storm sewer installed for the specific purpose of collecting surface water, will do the job for the simple reason that no one can forecast what nature will do.

Announcement was made at last week's board meeting that service will be shut off to persons who have not paid their water bills or whose meters do not register correctly. There will be no notice given, it was said.

It was also announced that Mokena residents who do not have village vehicle stickers on their cars are subject to arrest and penalty.

Durward Fant was reappointed village treasurer for the coming year.

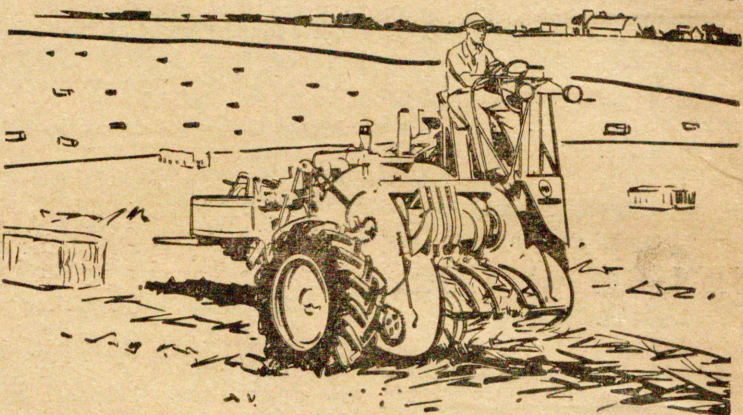

The village board is making arrangements to reimburse the grade school board for the water main supplying the new school west of Wolf road. When the payments are complete the village will own the main and the street. At present the school board owns the street leading to the building.

There was some discussion on a proposed planning commission for the village but no action taken.

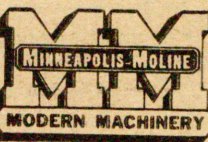

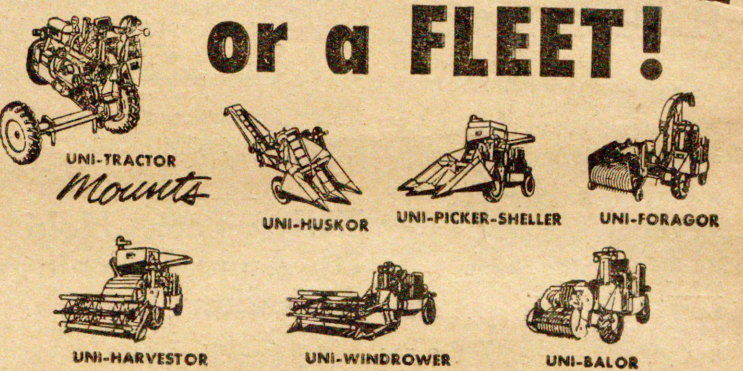

Six building permits were issued. One was for a new home for Joseph Heim on Wolf road, Hans Mueller, for remodeling a garage; Charles Schuldt, for remodeling; Mrs. Margaret Semmler and Edward Carroll for garages and Carl Feige, for a porch.

U. S. Steel Corporation, at its Clairton, Pa., plant operates a coal unloader that stands 10 stories in height.

Farmers of Nation to Observe Farm Safety Week July 21 to 27

FARMERS 2-24 inside must ... National Farm Safety Week, July 21-27, is to arouse interest and local participation in solving the farm accident problem. Needless deaths and injuries must be reduced if farm and home are to become safer places in which to live and work says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

The Illinois Rural Safety Council estimates are all too accurate. Here is what the council predicts for 1957:

48 farm deaths daily
One of every 17 farm persons will suffer a disabling injury as a result of an accident. Accidents will kill 48 farm residents every single day. A disabling injury will strike some farm person every 109 seconds during the year. The total cost of accidents to farm people will be over one million dollars during the next 12 months. Each farm resident's share of that amount is $40, plus an average of 20 days' lost time.

These things will happen unless farm residents learn and obey farm safety rules. Safety makes sense.

east and south of a line drawn from Chicago to St. Louis. Illinois, Indiana and Ohio are the three big producers. Many yields in Illinois will be far short of those in 1957. Indiana seems not to have been hurt quite so much. Ohio has good prospects.

Hard wheat

Our big surplus is largely in hard red winter wheat. This class of wheat is grown in western Illinois and in Kansas and surrounding areas. Much of that region got twice as much rain as usual this spring, but that made for good yields. The southern edge of the wheat belt got excessive amounts of rain. The much greater than normal rainfall causes the uncertainty about wheat quality. Heavy rains in Kansas and Nebraska late in June caused some crop loss there and were a factor in running up prices.

Rains delayed both maturing and harvest of wheat and tended to put a squeeze on available market supplies. Most of the winter wheats will be in the bag or rather in the bin by the end of July.

Hard red spring wheat, which is grown mostly in North Dakota and surrounding areas (and Canada), makes flour similar to that made from hard red winter wheat. The harvest of spring wheat is much later than the harvest of winter wheat. Crop prospects are good in the spring wheat states.

Price support rates for the 1957 crop average $2.00 a bushel the same as for the 1956 crop. An average support price of $1.78 has been announced for the 1958 crop.

With a record tonnage of U. S. coal going abroad these days, it is interesting to note that Pocahontas coal from West Virginia was the first American bituminous to gain world recognition, almost a century ago. Now coal from many seams in many states goes to the export market daily.

Rains Obscure Wheat Outlook Report States

By L. H. SIMERL
Dept. of Agriculture Economics

Grain prices were very erratic in June and may continue to swing sharply for several weeks. Main cause of the market instability is uncertainty about the amount and quality of grain that will be harvested this year.

Quality is particularly important in the wheat market, because small changes in the composition of wheat makes big differences in the bread, biscuits and cakes that can be made from the flour.

Wheat price pattern ... The typical pattern of wheat prices in recent years has been a 20 to 30-cent drop below the support level at harvest time and then a rise to within about 5 cents of the support level. On charts the price of wheat makes a pattern about like the small letter m. A loop is made each year. The support level would be a line just above the top of the loop.

This year wheat prices followed the usual pattern of decline, apparently reaching bottom the third week in June. Then reports of much lower yields than last year, harvesting difficulties and uncertainties about the baking qualities of flour made from some of the new brought a sharp price rise. The price support level is $2.30 a bushel at Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. The run-up carried prices of both hard and soft wheat 5 to 8 cents a bushel over the support level at Kansas City, but the advance at St. Louis and Chicago lacked 12 to 15 cents of reaching the support price.

Soft wheat

As we have reported before, there is no surplus of soft red winter wheat—the kind grown

Peach at the Beach

LOVELY BRETT ASHLEY adds something new to the summer season. Luscious to look at, she's found the energy from fresh peaches in season a juicy delight. It suits her fancy to take them with her by the pack.

Here is Ready List of Vacation Travel Needs

As you read this article, you may be one of 5 million Americans who will be going on vacation next week—or one of another similar group that will leave the following week—and the next.

If you are like 90 per cent of the vacationists-to-be, you are in a state of subdued excitement and the children are chanting, "Oh, boy—only three days."

Also, if you go along with the majority, packing will be left to the last minute when all kinds of unnecessary things will be thrown into necessary extra luggage and many essentials will be left at home.

Everybody should have a check list of "what to take." The average vacationist is an amateur traveler and usually takes along too much or too little.

Here is a basic list of outer clothing and other essentials that the vacationist needs for travel by automobile. There is no attempt here to list recreational equipment such as fishing or boating supplies. This list is for the suitcase. Limit luggage to two pieces for a family of four.

Nothing Fancy

Here we go for last minute packers: (Suggested by travel authorities for a two week trip to a cabin or cottage or continuous travel on the road—not for country club type resorts)

Clothes for Boys: 2 blue jeans, 1 dress trousers, 4 sport shirts, 1 heavy jacket (for North woods or mountains only), 1 pair heavy shoes, 1 pair dress shoes, 3 pairs socks.

Clothes for Girls: Same as above except substitute dress-up dress as second item.

Clothes for Mom: 3 blouses, 3 skirts, 1 sweater set, 1 finger-tip jacket (warm) for mountains or North woods, 1 pair walking shoes, 1 pair dress shoes.

Clothes for Dad: 4 pair slacks, 4 sport shirts, 1 sport coat for dress-up, 1 pair heavy shoes, 1 dress shoes, 4 pairs socks.

The above items assume you will have laundering done or do it on the road. Take iron if you are doing it. You can purchase soaps or detergents on the road. Also, nylon stockings can be purchased on the road.

Of course, if you plan to fish you should add rain wear and boots; if golfing or playing tennis, take appropriate shoes.

Travel Light

Into an overnight bag place the following items: Dad's shaving needs, mom's cosmetics, lotion, creams; use empty toothpaste cartons to carry individual toothbrushes; for the family include band-aids, Murine eye-drops, sun glasses, sun tan oil, iodine, soap, aspirin and other essential medicines.

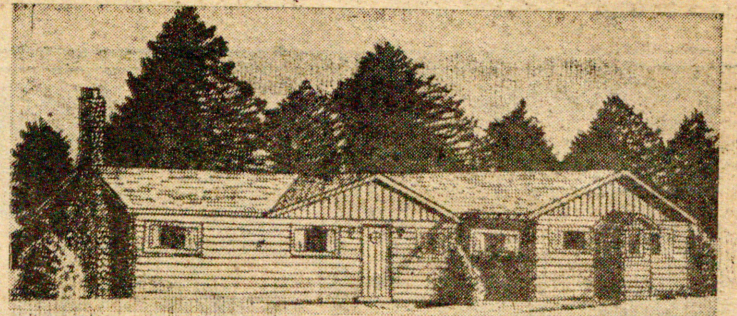

Use polyethylene film refrigerator bags to pack items that will spill or should be kept dry such as powder, soap, lotions, also for enclosing combs and brushes.

This plastic material bag is also handy for holding shoes, blouses, sweaters, under wear when packing the suitcases.

Into mom's purse goes nail polish and address book of friends to whom you are going to send cards.

Good-by. Travel light. Have a good time.

Ill. Bell Would Eliminate Toll in 'Heights' Area

(CNS) Hearings open July 24 on Illinois Bell Telephone company plans to eliminate toll charges on calls between Chicago Heights, Monee and Crete exchange areas.

The case will be heard by the Illinois Commerce Commission in its office at 160 N. La-Salle street, Chicago.

Illinois Bell also seeks what it terms "slight" increases in basic monthly rates.

The increase for residence "metropolitan" subscribers in Crete and Monee would range from about 1 cent to about 4 cents a day, depending upon whether rural service or one-party, two, or four is involved. Rates for majority of business phones in these communities would be increased up to 12 cents a day or about $3.60 monthly, depending upon the type of service used.

22,800 Customers Affected

No increase is sought for residential subscribers in the Chicago Heights exchange area. This includes East Chicago Heights, Glenwood, Matteson, Olympia Fields, Park Forest, Richton Park, South Chicago Heights, and Steger. For "metropolitan" business customers in this area, the increase would amount to about 2 cents a day.

The toll-free plan would allow all "Skyline" and "Pilgrim" subscribers with metropolitan-type service to make unlimited calls to Crete and Monee without toll charges. Also, those in Crete and Monee with "Oriole" and "Logan" numbers could call other exchange areas on a toll-free basis.

All told, about 22,800 subscribers would be affected.

Cong. Mason Urges Return to $65-Billion Budget of 1955

By Cong. N. M. MASON
On Thursday, June 13, 1957, Senator Herman Talmadge (D.-Ga.) made a great speech in the Senate, in which he revealed the following facts:

"A recent Commerce Department report revealed that the United States has put up more than $62 billion for foreign aid since July 1, 1945, representing an amount equal to $364 for every man, woman and child living in this country.

"What have we bought with these billions?

"They have been used to subsidize tax cuts in foreign lands while tax reduction has been denied our people here at home.

"They have been used to pay off national debts of foreign countries like Norway and Denmark, while our own debt has mounted higher and higher.

"They have been used to stabilize foreign currencies while inflation feeds like a brushfire at home.

"They have been used to add millions of acres to foreign farm crop production, while acreage allotments for our own farmers have been reduced here at home.

"Vast hydroelectric dams and irrigation and river development projects are being carried on all over the world, while floods continue to ravage our land and while our own industries cry for more power.

Much for Others

"While unfair foreign competition is closing the doors of numerous American industries, we continue to send our technicians and machines to foreign lands to provide the know-how to produce goods that will destroy markets for our own, due to the vast differential between slave wages and free wages.

"We have built iron and steel plants costing nearly a billion dollars in 24 countries.

"The multitude of foreign aid give-aways which have been carried on by this country includes apartment houses, railroads, rolling stock, mining equipment, steel mills, factories, banks, generating plants, machines, machine tools, building materials, supplies, equipment, commercial airplanes, aviation facilities, storage facilities, warehouses, laboratories, schools, hospitals, power dams, reservoirs, office buildings, telecommunication system, thousands of irrigation wells, American industrial know-how and engineering techniques and a host of other such items for over 60 countries.

"All of these things—and many more—have been financed by the citizens who sent us here to represent them.

"Mr. President, I must voice my opposition to such spending abroad, however worthy or needed, which could not—even by the remotest stretch of the imagination—contribute one iota to the strength or security of our country or the free world.

"I am opposed to subsidizing all manner of economic aid projects abroad so long as our own people—our farmers, our veterans, their widows and the dependents, our social security recipients, our retired people, our old people, our disabled citizens, our dependent children, and all those unable to take care of themselves—are not adequately provided for here at home."

Let's Go Back

During the first two years of Eisenhower's First Administration the budget was cut from $74 billion to $65 billion, an excellent showing for those years.

Senator Byrd now says if we could only go back to a $65 billion budget such as we had in 1955, we could do the following very desirable things:

(a) Pay $2 billion on the National debt.

(b) Increase the $600 exemption in the lowest bracket to $700, saving all taxpayers $2.8 billion.

(c) Make reductions in the middle tax brackets of $1 billion.

(d) Reduce the top bracket from 91% to 65%, thereby saving $225 million to the taxpayers in the top bracket.

(e) Reduce the corporation tax from 52% to 50%, thereby saving $830 million.

(f) Reduce excise taxes by $1 billion.

Let's go back to 1955 and give our own taxpayers a break!

Washington Snapshots

It is clear that congressional forces seeking to cut appropriations and to prevent undue expansion of the huge federal government must fight daily battles from now until the end of the session.

The house cut deeply in many of the appropriation bills which make up the $71.8-billion budget. But immediately appeals were made to the Senate for restoration.

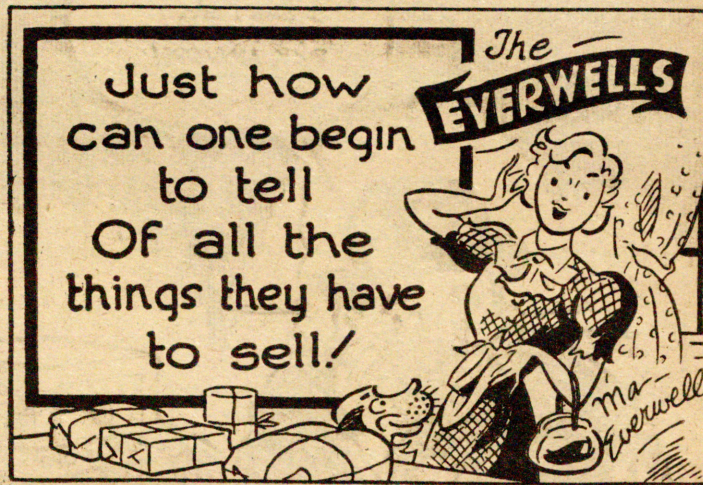

An Unceasing Fight

Similarly, the New-Fair Deal groups seeking legislation to inaugurate far-reaching new programs—such as grants-in-aid to states for various projects—wage an unceasing fight.

Congressional economy leaders point out that past history shows pressure groups seeking year the situation will be reversed—that businessmen and taxpayers generally will keep up such a demand for economy that this spirit will rule congress.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

• Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.
2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoother, quieter, longer-lived operation.
3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride no matter how rough the road conditions.
4. Only Ford in its field offers new swept-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on rough, bumpy roads.

5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof . . . greater quiet and safety.
6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. There are 5 cross members in all . . . enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.

8. Only Ford, among all makes, electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.

9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.

10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.

11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance and exit.

Annual Chest X-Ray Campaign Boon to Mankind

Like the good citizen you are, when the mobile chest X-ray unit came to your neighborhood, you stepped up and had your annual chest picture taken.

You felt perfectly well, but you had learned that people can have tuberculosis without knowing it.

You didn't feel so good when you got the report. You were advised to have another larger X-ray. Did that mean you had TB after all? You didn't waste any time getting to your doctor. You could also have gone to one of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium clinics in Chicago or The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District clinics in the suburbs which offer the same services free of charge.

It was tough waiting to find out what the big X-ray would show. And there was a shadow on your lung, all right. The doctor pointed it out on the film. You hit bottom. TB... a hospital... what about the family... the job?

Could Be Many Things

"Now don't rush off," the doctor ordered. "We've a lot more things to find out before we decide. I'll tell you frankly it looks like TB, but it could be a case of mistaken identity."

You learned some new words. The doctor explained that there are at least ten other conditions that can sometimes be confused with TB: pulmonary fibrosis, bronchiectasis, histoplasmosis, coccidioidomycosis—and some more names you couldn't pronounce, much less spell. You learned that skin tests, including a tuberculin test like those given in many Chicago schools, serologic tests, biopsy, and more X-rays would be taken to find out for sure.

The doctor started by getting a history of places you had lived all your life. Some fungus diseases resembling TB on X-ray are prevalent in certain areas of the country. The doctor might get a clue. And he did. The tests checked out.

5,000 "Hidden" Cases

You've since learned how to spell and pronounce histoplasmosis—your legacy from the Middle West. You had a benign case—one that didn't bother you—some time ago. It cleared up, but left its shadow behind to give you a few bad moments of worry.

You were not one of the estimated 5,000 unknown cases of TB in the Chicago area.

But you had learned a lot from the experience... a lot about modern scientific diagnosis, about fungus diseases, about how it feels to face tuberculosis, and how good it feels to know for sure that you're healthy.

You made a silent but solemn resolution to do everything possible to keep yourself that way. And "everything possible" including an annual chest X-ray in the community survey conducted by MTS and The Tuberculosis Institute (the Christmas Seal organization, The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District.

Would License and Regulate the Sludge Business

(CNS) An ordinance to license and control the collectors of sludge from cesspools and septic tanks has been introduced before the county board.

Sponsors are the Cook county Clean Streams Committee and the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago.

The sanitary district would issue permits and require all firms engaged in septic tank and cesspool sludge removal only at designated places with manholes on interceptor sewers of the sanitary district system.

Lewis I. Birdsall, executive secretary of the Clean Streams Committee said this "arrangement is essential to halt the dumping of polluting material into streams and along public highways."

Sludge removers presently are supposed to dump sludge on farm land and then plow it under, said Birdsall, adding that this practice is unsatisfactory in winter because the ground is frozen.

Endangers Health

Birdsall charged that some firms in the business are dumping sludge in roadside ditches, on the banks of streams and anywhere they can get away with it. He said this pollution tends to create breeding places for disease and epidemics.

The proposed ordinance would apply to all areas with septic tanks and cesspools, he said. It would provide penalties of $50 minimum and $200 maximum for violations.

The sanitary district originally suggested the sludge be dumped at its three sewerage plants—McCormick in Skokie, Stickney and Calumet—but scavengers objected that these locations would be too far for hauling.

Birdsall said he contacted Fred Stahl of Western Springs and others in the business who favor the proposal as now written.

The proposed law does not spell it out, but Birdsall recommended that the sanitary district license sludge trucks at $25 each and charge $3 for each load dumped.

Birdsall said this group next plans to have Illinois adopt a statewide sludge law. It has none now.

Oats Slow Gains For Hogs, Says U. of I. Reports

Oats were added to the ration of 100-pound hogs until they reached market weight in a recent test at the University of Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station.

In the test the oats replaced 1-3, 2-3 or all of the corn in the ration, according to G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialists at the U of I college of agriculture. In all cases the oats slowed down gains and increased the amount of feed needed to produce 100 pounds of gain.

If the oats cost as much as corn per pound, they also increased the cost of gain, Carlisle points out.

Gains More Costly

Adding oats affected gains more when the hogs were on pasture than when they were in drylot.

Daily gains ranged downward from 1.77 pounds for the drylot pigs with no oats in their ration to 1.75 pounds with 1-3 oats, 1.59 pounds with 2-3 oats and 1.35 pounds with all oats instead of corn.

For the pasture pigs, comparable gains were 1.70 pounds with no oats, 1.39 pounds with 1-3 oats, 1.43 pounds with 2-3 oats and 1.38 pounds with all oats.

Costs per pound of gain ranged upward from 9.4 cents for the drylot pigs with no oats to 11.7 cents for the pigs getting all oats. On pasture, costs of gain ranged upward from 8.8 cents for the pigs getting no oats to 10.6 cents for the pigs getting all oats.

Natural Causes Destroy More Trees Than Fire

Diseases, animals, insects and other natural forest enemies destroy nearly 20 times as much live saw timber in Illinois forests each year as is lost through forest fires, A. C. Foley, chairman of the Illinois Forest Industries Committee, said today.

Foley said the state's annual loss of live sawtimber to disease and other natural forest enemies runs around 57 million board feet, while annual loss to fire is another 2 million board feet, making a total yearly mortality loss of 59 million board feet.

This lost sawtimber would have provided sufficient lumber to build 5,900 five-room frame houses, the industry man said.

For the United States as a whole, the toll taken by insects, diseases and other natural causes have been mounting over the past few years until today nearly 12 billion board feet of live sawtimber is damaged annually.

The first coordinated attack on this insect-disease problem came in 1947, Foley pointed out, when Congress with strong urging by forest industries passed the Forest Pest Control Act under which private woodland owners pool their money with state and federal governments in joint efforts to control tree-killing insects and diseases. Motorists Get Replacements for Peeled Plates Peeled auto license plate replacements picked up sharply last week, as another 1,150 motorists took advantage of the manufacturer's offer to provide new plates free of charge, said Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter again urged car owners who have not yet obtained replacements for peeled plates to do so without delay so there can be no question of full compliance with the law.

All that is needed is a postcard or letter stating that the paint has peeled from the plate and listing the license number, Secretary Carpenter said.

America's 50 largest coal producers mined almost 56 percent of all the coal dug in 1956, according to Keystone Coal Buyers Manual, which said the total production of these companies was 279,844,275 tons.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

How consistent prayer, based on spiritual understanding of God, brings health and freedom will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday, July 14.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from Matthew (6:6): "Thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (4:3-5): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds."

The following will be among passages read from the Bible (Psalms 19:14): "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer."

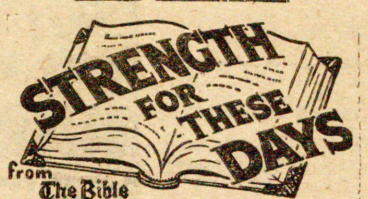

Baptists and Methodists Plan Union Service

As the Rev. Kenneth Crandall will be on vacation, the Tinley Park Methodist and Baptist churches will unite for worship services in the new Baptist church, 7025 - 179th st., Sunday, July 28.

This is the first time the two denominations have met in such united worship.

In order to accommodate both congregations, the Rev. C. Earl Finney, pastor of the Baptist church, will hold two worship services, one at 10 a.m. and one at 11 a.m. The Sunday schools will meet a half hour earlier, from 9 until 9:50 a.m. to allow the children to participate in the 10 a.m. service. Methodist and Baptists are welcome to attend either service.

Tentative plans call for the Baptists choir to sing at the early service with some special music by the Methodist choir, who will sing at the second service, with special music by the Baptist choir.

The rich and the poor meet together: the Lord is the Maker of them all. —(Proverbs 22, 2.)

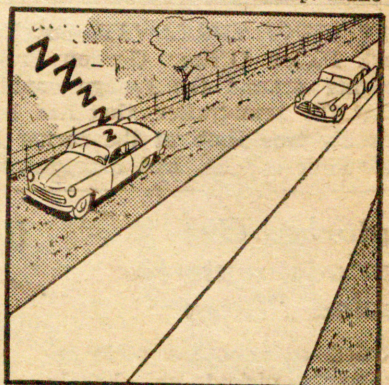

Sometimes, some of us will look upon other people in the street as if they were not there at all—they, those others, who were created by Our Heavenly Father in His own image, loved by Him (even the least and the lowliest). They are worthy in His sight, if not in ours!

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

The sleepy motorist who insists upon driving despite the necessity to devote part of his attention to keeping his eyelids open, either is unaware of the danger with which he is flirting, or is willing to risk his life and the lives of others for the sake of "saving" a few hours' time. He gambles hours for lifetimes.

If you are driving and find yourself fighting sleepiness, pull off of the highway. Perhaps you'll be in the neighborhood of some establishment where you'll be able to secure a cup of coffee or tea. If you are unable to find such a place, or if one of these stimulants does not remedy the situation, then pull off of the highway and take a nap. Make certain when you do so that your vehicle is not parked in such a position or location that it will be hazardous to the highway traffic.

A tired, sleepy driver is a dangerous driver. Avoid highway accidents and deaths by not driving when you find yourself in such a condition.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Boost Gas Bills For Maywood--Because of Tax

(CNS)—Gas bills are going up 3 per cent in Maywood but not in any other suburb serviced by Northern Illinois Gas company. The reason is that Maywood is the only municipality among 260 towns and villages charging the company a 3 per cent tax on its gross revenue.

The Illinois commerce commission ruled this week that such payments constitute an operating expense that should be passed on only to consumers living in a village levying such a tax.

"Discrimination"—ICC
Until now, this cost has been reflected in all customers' bills. The ICC order called this "unjust and unreasonable discrimination."

It authorized Northern Illinois Gas to increase rates to match the percentage charge any municipality makes under its franchise ordinance. The extra money the gas company collects in Maywood will be turned over to the village as its tax payment. Maywood has collected this tax since it granted a franchise to the Municipal Gas company in the year 1900. This was passed on to Northern Illinois Gas when it took over this service.

Held Unfair
Since 1900, the ICC said, such payments to Maywood have grown from "an inconsiderable" sum in earlier years to $20,571 in 1954.

"The effect of (Northern Illinois Gas) making municipal compensation payments to Maywood has the practical result of unfairly placing upon other gas consumers the major part of this burden," the ICC said.

The higher gas rates in Maywood go into effect July 26.

The news columns are filled with statements by political figures in which they denounce the constant erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar. Each group blames the other for this condition. Labor unions state that the employers can easily absorb the steady and regular wage and benefit increases without increasing prices. Employers point out that in the steel industry alone the increase in employee productivity per man hour, was at the rate of 3 per cent during the last 10 years whereas wage and employee benefits have been at an annual rate of 8 per cent. The differential must be made up in increased prices. Due to the great power of the large labor organizations, corporations do not think it profitable to fight the labor groups with resultant expensive strikes. The general feeling is that labor union power of a political and economic nature, is a problem of the whole public and no one firm cares to be a martyr in proving the point. They merely accede to demands and add as much of the cost as possible, to selling prices.

Thus the constant wage-price spiral and a continuing reduction in the purchasing power of the dollar. This reduction of purchasing power or erosion of the dollar has been moving at a slightly faster rate. The reduction of purchasing power of the dollar as of July 1, 1957 was about 4 per cent in 1957. The average loss in purchasing power of the dollar for 10 years prior to Dec. 31, 1955 was at the rate of about 4 3/4 per cent per year.

Government, state and municipality bonds show the result of this constant lowering of dollar purchasing power. Government bonds are much lower than they have been in recent years and sales of the savings bonds are causing considerable concern to those persons whose duty is to keep government finances in balance. Many states and municipalities simply cannot sell their bonds for sewers, schools, etc. on what they consider a reasonable basis. The municipal bond market is now at its lowest ebb in about 35 years.

Corporations are now able to sell bonds at the lower interest yield only if they make bonds convertible into the company's common stock or make provision wherein the bond buyer can hedge somewhat against loss in purchasing power by having a call on the common stock which usually will reflect lower dollar purchasing power by advancing in market value.

Common stocks of the better distribution, will reflect increases in the costs of replacement of that machinery and the inventory values will reflect current costs of production.

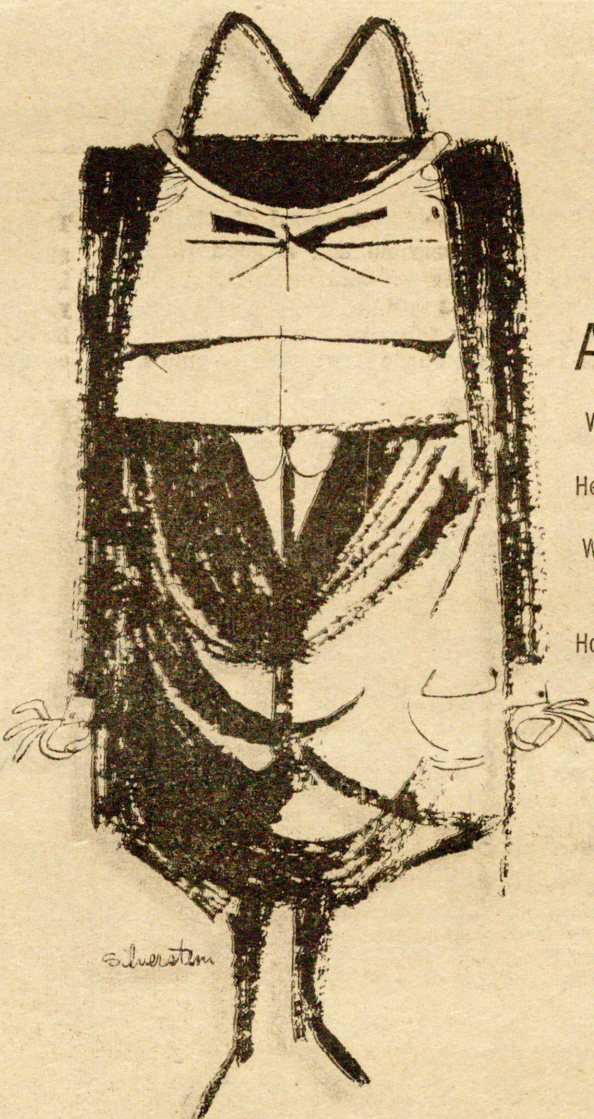

The savings accounts and bonds, etc. are fixed dollar obligations which merely promise to return at due date, a given number of dollars at a particular interest rate, without regard to change in purchasing power. Common stocks of the top corporations of the country, are about the only investment vehicles by which the investor can protect against erosion of the dollar.

John L. Lewis has been a much damned labor leader, but the figures now show that he has been very careful to calculate the increased production of his miners per man hour, in his wage demands. His miners are the only large labor union that is getting just about the amount of their increase in production per man hour. It is very evident he has not wanted to price his miners out of a job.

According to American Waterways Operators, Inc., coal river traffic has risen 26 million tons between 1947 and 1955 and now exceed 100,000,000 ton a year.

"Firsthand knowledge does not become secondhand just because it is used!"

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly,
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Marley Celebrates the Fourth—Pioneer Style

HUNDREDS ATTEND PICNIC—sponsored by the Brotherhood of Marley church in observance of the Fourth of July and everyone had a good time. This was the 75th Fourth of July picnic held at Marley and except for the clothes and the transportation it could have been 1882 instead of 1957. The setting was the same for the 75th picnic as it was for the first, and the people are the same, as steadfast in spirit as the oaks that shade the picnic grounds.

The pictures at the upper right shows the Rev. Ray Hammer addressing the audience on the real meaning of Independence Day. On the platform with him is James Tilsey, the chairman. And below this is a shot showing one of the younger picnickers, Russell, 18-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Been, Rt. 1, Mokena. Russell confided that speaking makes him dry—hence the long, cool drink he is enjoying. (Marvin Smith photos)

LOOKS CAN BE DECEIVING—an ancient and trite axiom that is solid truth, especially in pictures. This scene has a pastoral, peaceful atmosphere and from the lights and shadows one would be apt to place the time at about sundown. But it was morning when this picture was taken and it was anything but peaceful. Rain had been coming down in torrents to send Hickory creek out of its banks. The bridge here is on Cedar street, New Lenox. (Marvin Smith photo)
